

Mastering FIDIC and NEC4 Contracts

23rd – 27th October 2017

Coral Strand Hotel, Seychelles

Learning Outcome:

- Devising and adopting an appropriate procurement and contracting strategy for you project.
- Preparing the contracts documents
- Claims or Compensation Events (CE's) for an extension of time, additional Cost and Profit
- Changes to Works Information or Variations.
- Instructions, Drawings and Quality
- Dispute resolution and DAB procedures
- Use and revision of the program and Early Warnings

Who Should Attend?

- World Bank / MDB staff and clients
- Commercial Managers
- Contracts Manager
- Contracts Engineer
- Cost Engineer
- Project Controls
- Commercial Manager
- Project Manager
- Project Planner and Coordinator
- Quantity Surveyors
- Procurement Manager
- Legal Commercial Manager
- Project Commercial Manager
- Lawyers and Advocates dealing with Construction Contract

About your Course Presenter:

Your Facilitator is a highly experienced (non-practicing) attorney, consultant and training facilitator, with extensive, over 30 years, legal experience and over 17 years business consulting and training facilitation experience. He has a B Proc Degree. He has been providing legal and Contract consulting services, training and skills transfer services to the construction industry, commercial business, public entities and other consulting organizations. He is also a well-known trainer who specialize in FIDIC, NEC, JCC and have conducted training in South Africa and Africa. His special area of interest is contracting and the law and its relationship to business and the economic world.

Background

FIDIC 1st Edition 1999 (and, if available the 2nd edition 2017) and NEC4 contracts are undoubtedly international best practice contracts for built environment projects. This essential and intensive course, explains the provision, compares and contrasts, and provides an in depth understanding of key methods and process of construction contract management. The traditional FIDIC contracts follow a more arm's length, legal approach to drafting, style and contract management. NEC4 was released on 22 June 2017 and represents an evolution of the former NEC3 suite and introduces some new contract forms. FIDIC have announced that a new 2nd edition of their Yellow book and possibly also Red and Silver books will be released late in 2017; exact publication dates have not been provided. If these documents are available by the date of this event, the new contracts and the changes brought about by the new additions will be addressed, if not, the expected changes, based on the prepublication draft of the Yellow Book will be considered in a 'what we might expect' session.

Until recently FIDIC was the sole contract used in projects undertaken with World Bank funding from the Multilateral Development Banks. In a once, in a generation policy revision, the Multinational Development Banks, have updated their policies and to include funding of NEC4 partnering contract projects. The modern, NEC4 (an ICE contract) follows a modern collaborative (partnering), project management, and plain language approach to drafting, style and contract management. This event is not to be missed by anyone seeking a thorough understanding of FIDIC & NEC4 contracts, World Bank and best practice construction procurement and procedures

Intelligent Africa Marketing and Training

Tel: 0027 12 997 7676 • Fax: 0027 12 997 7034

info@intelligentafrika.com • www.intelligentafrika.com